We recommend that you obtain detailed information before taking any investment decision. The content of this document is solely intended to provide information on a range of products and services offered by Fidelity International. This document does not constitute investment advice based on personal or individual client circumstances. Fidelity International nevertheless remains at client's disposal to discuss in greater detail specific investment needs and provide clients with investment recommendations based upon client's individual circumstances if required. Advice shall only be given once the terms for its provisions have been set out and agreed in writing. Source: Standard & Poor's and Fidelity. Performance calculated NAV to NAV, gross income reinvested, in fund currency excluding initial charge as per 30 June 2008. Past performance is no guarantee of future returns. The value of investments and any income from them may go down as well as up and an investor may not get back the amount invested. An investment in a currency other than the shareholder's own will be subject to the movements of foreign exchange rates. Investors are reminded that emerging markets funds can invest in volatile markets meaning the fund may experience difficulties in disposing of the purchased securities. Due to the lack of liquidity in many smaller stock markets, certain Country Select Funds may be volatile and redemption rights may be restricted in extreme circumstances. Due to the greater possibility of default an investment in a corporate bond is generally less secure than an investment in government bonds.
